

EXHIBIT 4: KING COUNTY ENVIRONMENTAL SUSTAINABILITY RESOURCE LIST

American Institute of Architects – Seattle Chapter, Committee on the Environment
<http://www.aiaseattle.org>

Build Green NW
<http://www.buildgreennw.com/>
Information about building green and/or leasing green space.

Built Green
A program of the Master Builders Association of King and Snohomish Counties, Built Green is a rating system for single-family and multifamily housing projects. www.builtgreen.net.

King County GreenTools Program
<http://www.greentools.us/>
Green building information on commercial and residential building in King County.

LEED
U.S. Green Building Council's LEED certification program: <http://www.usgbc.org/>

Lighting Design Lab
<http://www.lightingdesignlab.com/index.html>
Provides information on the Lighting Design Lab's tours, classes, workshops and consultations by experienced lighting and daylighting specialists.

Northwest Ecobuilding Guild
<http://www.ecobuilding.org>
The Northwest Ecobuilding Guild is an association of builders, designers, homeowners, and others concerned with ecological building.

Pacific Northwest Pollution Prevention Resource Center
<http://www.pprc.org/pubs/greencon/index.cfm>
Online resources to green building for those involved in building design and construction.

Puget Sound Energy
<http://www.pse.com>
Provides information on Puget Sound Energy's energy efficiency programs and services for residential and business customers.

SeaGreen
Guide to Greening Seattle's Affordable Housing. www.seattle.gov/housing/07-FreePublications/SeaGreen.pdf.

Seattle City Light Conservation
<http://www.cityofseattle.net/light/conserve>
Provides information on Seattle City Light's energy efficiency programs and services for residential and business customers.

Seattle Sustainable Building
<http://www.cityofseattle.net/sustainablebuilding>
This resource for sustainable building features links to a LEED™ project task list, project services procurement language guide, policy and code information, case studies and Seattle's CIP Supplements to LEED™

Washington State Dept of Ecology Sustainable Building Toolbox
<http://www.ecy.wa.gov/programs/swfa/greenbuilding/>
Provides direct links to organizations, databases, resources, and other information on sustainable building practices in Washington State.