Regional Transit Task Force

June 3, 2010

5:30 p.m. – 9:00 p.m.

Puget Sound Regional Council (PSRC)

1011 Western Ave, Suite 500, Seattle

(Dinner will be provided for task force members)

- 5:30 Review Agenda and Introductions (John Howell and Task Force)
- 5:35 Follow Up on Previous Information Requests (Metro Staff)
- 6:00 Discussion of Performance Measures by Sub Area and for Different Types of Service
- Current service allocation by sub area
  - Growth of service by sub area and type
  - Analysis of current service allocation by service type
  - Task Force Discussion
    - What does this suggest about which service types are most/least productive? Why are they more or less productive?
    - What does the analysis suggest about how the six factors (*) are currently affecting the design of the Metro system? Are some influencing the design of the system more than others?
    - Does the analysis suggest to you that the relative weighting of the six factors should be modified or changed? Why? What goals are most important for the transit system to achieve?
      - ❖ What's the right balance between providing transit access to everyone and creating a system that is highly productive and efficient?
      - ❖ How much of the system should be designed to serve growing communities with lower density populations vs. service to existing higher density population centers and employment centers?
- 7:00 Break
- 7:15 Continued Discussion of the Implications of the Service Type Analysis and How the Six Factors Should Affect the Design of the Metro Transit System

8:30 Review and Comment on the Definitions of the Six Key Factors Affecting Metro Transit System Design (Group)

- Review/modify draft

8:45 Public Comment

8:55 Upcoming Meeting Date and Topics (Howell)

9:00 Adjourn

(*) The six factors affecting system design: land use, social equity and environmental justice, financial sustainability, geographic equity, economic development, and productivity and efficiency
