

Sunset and Heathfield Pump Stations and Force Main Upgrade

Project Overview

The Sunset and Heathfield Pump Stations have reliably transported sewage from Sammamish, Issaquah, and Bellevue to King County's Renton treatment plant for over 50 years. This infrastructure is reaching its limit, so we are updating the pump stations and connected force main pipe to:

- Ensure reliable wastewater service in the region for years to come
- Increase the capacity of the system to accommodate regional growth
- Update equipment and technology to ensure facilities run smoothly and efficiently

After three years of design, we are excited to share final design details with you today!

Next Steps

- Hire a construction contractor
- Conduct community pre-construction survey
- Host a pre-construction meeting before construction starts
- Begin construction as early as Spring 2017
