The Homelessness Crisis in Context

HOUSING AFFORDABILITY, PUBLIC SAFETY & HUMAN SERVICES RESOURCES

BACKGROUND

- Over 45,000 Seattle Households are severely cost burdened and pay more than half of their income for housing.
- Rents are rising rapidly in Seattle, making housing unaffordable to people in critical occupations like pre-school teachers, healthcare workers, and service industry employees.
- 3,000 homeless children are currently attending Seattle Public Schools. On average, that's more than 1 student per Seattle classroom.
- Last winter's One Night Count found 2,800 men, women, and children without shelter in Seattle.
- Everyday police officers encounter individuals in crisis dealing with mental health issues and drug addiction. Many of these individuals cycle through the criminal justice system without receiving adequate services.

CITY SOLUTIONS

- The $145 million 2009 voter approved Seattle Housing Levy has constructed 1,971 apartments, renovated 410 apartments, provided 1,882 households with rent assistance and provided 148 home loans for low-income buyers. Overall, since the 1980's the Levy has created 12,000 affordable apartments and helped assist 800 buyers to purchase their first home.
- The Incentive Zoning program, authorized by state legislation, has generated $73 million for affordable housing.
- Seattle invests $129 million annually for human services, including $40 million annually to assist people at-risk of or experiencing homelessness, including single adults, youth, families, domestic violence survivors, older adults, Native Americans, and veterans.
- In 2016, Seattle has committed to investing an additional $7.3 million in emergency funding to assist in responding to the homelessness crisis and the growing demand for services.
- Seattle has made assessable one community center and seven pool facilities to provide homeless students and their families with hygiene services.
- Seattle has added 288 shelter beds since November 2015.
- Seattle Department of Construction and Inspection and Seattle Fire Department are working to reduce barriers in the shelter permitting process.

STATE REQUESTS

- Local option property tax exemption to preserve and create affordability in existing housing.
- Increase funding for the Housing Trust Fund (HTF) by $10 million; in addition, adequate operating and service dollars should be available for HTF capital investments to ensure our most vulnerable populations are served, including those experiencing homelessness, seniors, youth and families.
- Additional tools for locals to construct and maintain housing affordability for owners and renters.
- Increase funding for mental health and substance abuse services.
- Support for supportive housing services that serve the chronically homeless with serious behavioral or physical health disabilities, and maintain HEN, ABD and SSI Facilitation Services at their current funding levels.
- Expand access to life-saving opiate overdose prevention drug naloxone and provide capital funding for new community clinics to meet the need for medication-assisted treatment.
