Recycling Day

Today is _____ (day of the week), and that means it's time to take the _____ (thing) out to the _____ (noun) so it can be recycled. Like I always do, I looked _____ (adverb) through the _____ (thing) to make sure I was recycling _____ (adjective). To my surprise, there was a _____ (thing) in the bin! I felt very _____ (emotion) and didn't know what to do. Just then, the garbage truck pulled up in front of my house. I told the driver I had a _____ (thing) in my _____ (color) bin. She _____ (emotion) and said the _____ (thing) did not belong in _____ (place). I told her thank you, and then took the _____ (thing) out of the bin and put it back on the _____ (place) where it belonged. It was a _____ (adjective) recycling day!

Spot the Difference

These sparkling cans are ready for the recycling bin. They hit all the marks—empty, clean and dry. But something's off between these two images. Can you spy the 5 details that were scrubbed away? Look on the next page to check your work.

We talked about leaving room on this template for about three sentences. I can't remember why, but here is where the sentences can go. Is everyone happy with this, huh? HUH? well, you'd better be, dammit. Or we can remove this, too.
