AUDIT FINDINGS

NARRATIVE:

The audit of King County Work Education Release (WER) was conducted on May 17, 2016 by Katherine Brown, Certified PREA auditor. There are 4 general population dorms consisting of two man cells. There are 2 dorms on the North and 2 dorms on the south side of the building. I toured the facility plus the laundry. During the tour all units had announcements of the audits posted and cross gender announcements were made prior to me entering the units.

Prior to the audit I received the documentation on April 12, 2016 and started my review. I requested additional documentation to satisfy the standards and received it on May 12, 2016.

An entrance meeting was held with PREA Coordinator Jackie Smith.

Following the entrance meeting I toured the King County Work Education Release Center from 9:00 – 9:30. On the tour with me was, Major Clark; Runette Mitchell, Corrections Program Administrator and Leonard Burn, WER Supervisor.

I asked for an alpha listing of all residents housed at King County Work Education Release (WER) and randomly selected 3 residents to interview all others were out at work. I also asked for any residents who were limited English speaking or had hearing/vision impairment to be interviewed. There were no hearing/vision impairment nor non-English speaking residents. I also asked for any resident who was transgender/intersex, which there were none. I also asked for a shift roster and randomly selected 3 case managers; the two officers assigned to day shift and the 2 officers assigned to afternoons to interview. I also conducted 6 specialized interviews.

There were no sexual assault/harassment allegation cases in the past year.

DESCRIPTION OF FACILITY CHARACTERISTICS:

The King County Work Education Release (WER) is located at 516 3rd Avenue Room 1028 Seattle Washington. It is on the 10th floor of the King County Courthouse in downtown Seattle. King County Work Education Release consists of 40 two man cells divided into 4 dorms and each has a dayroom area and one centralized laundry area.

WER is an alcohol and drug free residential alternative where residents go to work, school, or treatment during the day and return to a secure facility at night. Residents who work at night are required to spend the day at King County Work Education Release (WER). Random drug testing is used to monitor for use of illegal drugs and consumption of alcohol. Residents are required to pay room and board on a sliding scale based on their hourly rate of gross pay. They also pay restitution, child support or court costs as required by the Court. Residents are involved in a case management process that directs them to structured programs and/or treatment.

King County Department of Adult and Juvenile Detention has developed, documented, and made its best efforts to comply on a regular basis with a staffing plan that provides for adequate levels of staffing and uses video monitoring, to protect residents against sexual abuse. King County Work Education Release (WER) complies with this standard based on staffing plan and shift rosters that were reviewed as part of this audit. Officers are assigned to the work release center from the KCCF jail which is located adjacent to the WER.

In circumstances where the staffing plan was not complied with, King County Work Education Release (WER) documented and justified all deviations from the plan. All deviations from the staffing plan were documented on the shift rosters.

Auditor comments, including corrective actions needed if does not meet standard

Based on review of 4.01.004 Cross Gender Searches; 4.02.005 Strip Searches; 6.03.007 Transgender Inmates; Cross Gender Pat Search Training; Training class completed list; On Line PREA test; PREA refresher training Power Point; LGBTI-NIC training; Strip Search record; Officers report and Seattle Counseling Service LGTI Community.

King County Work Education Release (WER) does not conduct cross-gender strip searches or cross-gender visual body cavity searches (meaning a search of the anal or genital opening) except in exigent circumstances. During random staff and residents interviews it was confirmed staff do not perform cross gender strip searches.

King County Work Education Release (WER) has policies and procedures that enable residents to shower, perform bodily functions, and change clothing without nonmedical staff of the opposite gender viewing their breasts, buttocks, or genitalia, except in exigent circumstances or when such viewing is incidental to routine cell checks. Such policies and procedures require staff of the opposite gender to announce their presence when entering a resident housing unit. Based on tour and during the random residents interviews it was confirmed that residents have privacy to perform bodily functions and cross gender staff announcements are made.

King County Work Education Release (WER) does not search or physically examine a transgender or intersex resident for the sole purpose of determining the resident’s genital status. If the resident’s genital status is unknown, it is determined during conversations with the resident, by reviewing medical records, or, if necessary, by learning that information as part of a broader medical examination conducted in private by a medical practitioner. There were no transgender residents at the facility at the time of the audit but based on review of policy 6.03.007 Transgender Inmates and on staff interviews transgender/intersex residents would not be searched for sole purpose of determining the resident’s genital status.

King County Department of Adult and Juvenile Detention trains security staff in how to conduct cross-gender pat-down searches, and searches of transgender and intersex residents, in a professional and respectful manner, and in the least intrusive manner possible, consistent with security needs. Based on review of training records and power point as well as random staff interviews I confirmed they have been trained in cross gender pat down searches.

Based on review of Intake Screening DAJD/CC/WER/PREA Risk Assessment; printout of PREA Assessment and interview with random residents and case managers responsible for screening I find they exceed in this standard.

All residents are assessed during an intake screening and upon transfer to another facility for risk of being sexually abused by other residents or sexually abusive toward other residents.

Intake screenings take place usually within 24 hours but never exceeds 72 hours of arrival at King County Work Education Release (WER).

King County Work Education Release (WER) uses an objective screening instrument.

The intake screening considers, at a minimum, the following criteria to assess residents for risk of sexual victimization:

1. Whether the resident has a mental, physical, or developmental disability;
2. The age of the resident;
3. The physical build of the resident;
4. Whether the resident has previously been incarcerated;
5. Whether the resident’s criminal history is exclusively nonviolent;
6. Whether the resident has prior convictions for sex offenses against an adult or child;
7. Whether the resident is or is perceived to be gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender, intersex, or gender nonconforming;
8. Whether the resident has previously experienced sexual victimization;
9. The resident’s own perception of vulnerability; and

The initial screening considers prior acts of sexual abuse, prior convictions for violent offenses, and history of prior institutional violence or sexual abuse, as known to King County Department of Adult and Juvenile Detention, in assessing residents for risk of being sexually abusive.

Within 30 days from the resident’s arrival at King County Work Education Release (WER), King County Work Education Release (WER) reassesses the resident’s risk of victimization or abusiveness and continues to reassess every resident every 30 days thereafter.

A resident’s risk level is reassessed when warranted due to a referral, request, incident of sexual abuse, or receipt of additional information that bears on the resident’s risk of sexual victimization or abusiveness. Any resident who has been identified as needing further evaluation due to additional information received will be reassessed when warranted.

Residents are not disciplined for refusing to answer, or for not disclosing complete information in response to, questions asked. No resident is ever disciplined for refusing to participate in the intake process, if a resident refuses to answer the questions during intake the counselor will meet with that resident at a later time to conduct the rest of the screening. Those residents would be placed in appropriate housing until a proper classification screening could be done.

King County Department of Adult and Juvenile Detention implements appropriate controls on the dissemination within King County Work Education Release (WER) of responses to questions asked pursuant to this standard in order to ensure that sensitive information is not exploited to the resident’s detriment by staff or other residents. Only limited staff has access to the risk screening form only Case Manager and Supervisor have access to the intake screening information.

Based on the interview with the Case Managers and the fact they reassess every resident every thirty days I find they exceed in this standard.

Auditor comments, including corrective actions needed if does not meet standard

Based on review of 6.03.007 Transgender Inmates; PREA Risk Housing Assessment and on interview with staff responsible for risk screening I find they meet this standard.

King County Department of Adult and Juvenile Detention uses information from the risk screening to decide housing, bed, work, education, and program assignments with the goal of keeping separate those residents at high risk of being sexually victimized from those at high risk of being sexually abusive. All information from the risk screening is used to determine housing, bed assignments, work, education and programming.

King County Department of Adult and Juvenile Detention make individualized determinations about how to ensure the safety of each resident.

There were no transgender/intersex resident at the time of the audit, however they have had a transgender resident at the facility last year.

In deciding whether to assign a transgender or intersex resident to a facility for male or female residents, and in making other housing and programming assignments, King County Department of Adult and Juvenile Detention considers on a case-by-case basis whether a placement would ensure the resident’s health and safety, and whether the placement would present management or security problems.

Placement and programming assignments for each transgender or intersex resident is reassessed at least twice each year to review any threats to safety experienced by the resident.
A transgender or intersex resident’s own views with respect to his or her own safety are given serious consideration.

Transgender and intersex residents are given the opportunity to shower separately from other residents.

WER has not had a resident file a grievance relating to a PREA incident however policies are in place that address the following:

King County Department of Adult and Juvenile Detention do not impose a time limit on when a resident may submit a grievance regarding an allegation of sexual abuse. Any allegation of sexual abuse, reported by any means, will be treated as a formal allegation and forwarded to the Director Community Corrections Division.

In a case where the staff member is the subject of the complaint, any other counselor can be utilized to submit the grievance.

Based on review of 1.05.001 Special Investigation Unit and interview with investigative staff from IIU (during previous audit of KCCF) I find they meet this standard.

When King County Department of Adult and Juvenile Detention conducts its own investigations into allegations of sexual abuse and sexual harassment, it does so promptly, thoroughly, and objectively for all allegations, including third-party and anonymous reports. All initial abuse and harassment allegation investigations will be conducted by King County Internal Investigations Unit. Substantiated SART investigations will immediately be referred to the King County sheriff Office or Seattle Police Department.

Where sexual abuse is alleged, King County Department of Adult and Juvenile Detention uses investigators who have received special training in sexual abuse investigations. All internal investigators are required to attend additional PREA training.

Investigators gather and preserve direct and circumstantial evidence, including any available physical and DNA evidence and any available electronic monitoring data; interview alleged victims, suspected perpetrators, and witnesses; and review prior complaints and reports of sexual abuse involving the suspected perpetrator. King County Work Education Release (WER) follows the procedures set forth in policy number 1.05.001 Special Investigation Unit follows a uniform evidence protocol that maximizes the potential for obtaining usable (physical) evidence for administrative proceedings and criminal prosecutions. The response to sexual assault follows the U.S. Department of Justice’s Protocol for Sexual Assault Medical Forensic Examinations, Adults/Adolescents, dated April 2013, or the most current version. SANE protocols and SART investigation procedures are initiated.

When the quality of evidence appears to support criminal prosecution, King County Department of Adult and Juvenile Detention conducts compelled interviews only after consulting with prosecutors as to whether compelled interviews may be an obstacle for subsequent criminal prosecution. King County Work Education Release (WER) complies with this standard by following policies and procedures as outlined in 1.05.01 Special Investigation Unit in regard to PREA Investigations concerning criminal prosecutions.

The credibility of an alleged victim, suspect, or witness is assessed on an individual basis and is not determined by the person’s status as resident or staff. No agency requires a resident who alleges sexual abuse to submit to a polygraph examination or other truth-telling device as a condition for proceeding with the investigation of such an allegation. King County Work Education Release (WER) complies with this standard by following policies and procedures as outlined in 1.05.01 Special Investigation Unit in regard to PREA Investigations concerning criminal prosecutions.

Criminal investigations shall be documented in a written report that contains a thorough description of physical, testimonial, and documentary evidence and attaches copies of all documentary evidence where feasible. Criminal investigation reports involving a PREA investigation will be maintained locally as part of the investigative unit for a period of no less than five years.

Administrative investigations include efforts to determine whether staff actions or failures to act contributed to the abuse; and are documented in written reports that contains a thorough description of physical, testimonial, and documentary evidence, the reasoning behind credibility assessments, and investigative facts and findings, and attaches copies of all documentary evidence where feasible.

Substantiated allegations of conduct that appears to be criminal are referred for prosecution.

The departure of the alleged abuser or victim from the employment or control of King County Work Education Release (WER) or agency does not provide a basis for terminating an investigation.

Sanctions will be commensurate with the nature and circumstances of the abuse committed, the resident’s disciplinary history, and the sanctions imposed for comparable offenses by other residents with similar histories.
